Data Protection regulations are changing. This means that we need to tell you how the RTFHS stores and uses your personal information and ask you to agree to this.

We hold your personal information - name, address, email address, phone number and research interests - on computer and on paper forms that you have filled in. All are secure. We only use your information to contact you, to send you your RTFHS journals and to let you know if there are any other RTFHS members who share your interests. Every three months we pass your name and address only to our journal printers in a secure way so they can post your journals to you. We do not give your personal information to anyone else. We will always look after your personal information securely in accordance with the regulations of the current Data Protection Act and the forthcoming changes to it.
