- We hold your personal information – name, address, email address, phone number and research interests - on computer and on paper forms that you yourself have filled in. All are secure.
- We only use your information to contact you, to send you your RTFHS journals and to let you know if there are any other RTFHS members who share your interests.
- Every three months we pass only your name and address to our journal printers in a secure way so they can post your journals to you. We do not give your personal information to anyone else.
