1881	8 October	Hockham, NFK	died	DEATH OF "TINKER JOE," THE CENTENARIAN. - We have to record the death of Joseph Ashton, a tinker, and an inhabitant of Hockham, at the great age of 112 years, a few days ago. The deceased was buried in the village churchyard on the 13th inst., followed by his sons, daughters, grandchildren, and great grandchildren, and a large number of people from all parts of the county. The rector, the Rev. J. Spurgin, officiated at the grave, and as he was leaving the churchyard, he said, "Peace be to thee, memorable old friend." Upon the coffin was the breast plate, bearing this inscription, "Joseph Ashton, died October 8th, 1881, aged 112 years," and an engraving of a kettle, stewpan, and a bowl. The deceased has travelled the Eastern counties as a tinker for a great number of years, and up to a few days of his death he was never known to have had a day's illness in his life, and to the end he was in full use of all his mental powers. The poor old man was much respected by all who knew him. - Norfolk News .	The Ipswich Journal , 25 October 1881, 2
