				indefatigable exertions the gang were apprehended. The Bagleys are all of one family, and the father of them, Robert Bagley, though a cripple apparently, and who has travelled about this part of the country for many years with iron skewers, actually made his escape, (being allowed, in consequence of his walking with a crutch, rather more latitude;) and, having half an hour's start before his absence was discovered, gave his pursuers some trouble to re-capture him, throwing his crutch aside, and leading them a regular steeple chase from Deddington to Dunstew, near which latter place he was re-taken in a ditch, and again brought to Deddington.
1847	4 February - early March	probably Oxford, OXF	in gaol
1847	early March	Oxford, OXF	at the Assizes	Benjamin Bagley, aged 25, and Benjamin Smith, aged 23, charged with having on the 25th of January last, at Great Barford, feloniously stolen two ewe sheep, value 50s. each, the property of Mr. William Iorns; and Robert Bagley, aged 55, Charles Bagley, aged 17, and Cinderella Bagley, aged 20, for receiving parts of the same, well knowing them to have been stolen. Mr. Pigott, in addressing the Jury, said the prisoners were a gang of those wandering people, the gipsies, who for some time past had been encamped in the neighbourhood of the prosecutor's farm. They would hear, by the evidence he should adduce, that on the 25th of January last, the prosecutor missed two ewe sheep from a flock of 32, which were afterwards traced by foot-marks to a clover rick in the same field, where the skin and entrails were found, and from thence to a lane, where parts of the mutton were found in the possession of the prisoners, who were all sitting round a fire. The facts of the case were few, and he should therefore proceed to call the witnesses. John Timms - Am shepherd to Mr. William Iorns; counted the sheep on the 25th of January, there were 32; counted them again on the following day, Tuesday, found 2 gone; and footsteps of two men and two sheep, and traced them across some turnips to a clover rick in the same field; found the skins and entrails near the rick; Morgan the constable, examined the footsteps; took the skins before the Magistrates, when they were compared. By Mr. Williams - It was on the Monday when I first counted the sheep; the rick is about 100 yards from the fold. George Morgan - Am constable of King's Sutton; on the 30th of January went to prosecutor's; went to the fold; examined the footmarks of two men and two sheep; they went in the direction of a clover rick; judged from the marks that the sheep were pushed along by a man's knee. The two marks went parallel to each other. On the Sunday went to a lane; found all the prisoners; they were sitting round a fire; told Charles that I was constable, and should take him into custody; saw blood on Benjamin Bagley's coat; Benjamin Smith said, "I dare say you would like to know how that come [sic] there;" he said, "Mr. Buswell, Mr. Rose's bailiff, gave us a sheep last Tuesday, and that was done bringing it away; I had not said anything about sheep before that; saw some mutton under the gown of Cinderella; it was very fat mutton; there were several parts. I said, "It is nice fat mutton;" they said, "yes, it was, for they had got fat enough out of it to sell for 5s." Took the shoes off Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith; compared them with the footmarks, and found them to correspond; one of the toes of Benjamin Bagley's was askew; some of the nails were gone; have no doubt but that the shoes I now produce, are the same; took the mutton before the Magistrates; it was compared with some skins there by Mr. French, a butcher; it corresponded; there was a small piece of skin left on the mutton; there was a hole in one of the skins, which agreed with the piece on the mutton. (The mutton was introduced.) By Mr. Williams - There were parts of two necks, parts of a breast, and other parts; it was not all cooked. Ledwell Farm is about 7 miles from Mr. Iorns; seized all the cooking utensils of the prisoners. It rained hard on the Sunday previous to the sheep being lost; did not examine the right shoe with the right footmarks. It was about ten o'clock when he took the prisoners. The nearest building is the farm-house, within 300 yards; there is another farm about half-a-mile off; there is a church; did not see more than two skins compared with the mutton. Mr. Richard Hall, nephew of prosecutor, compared the footmarks with the shoes, and found them to agree; the sheep are worth 50s. each. Mr. Iorns is too ill to attend. Mr. W. Hoar - Am a chandler; live at Lower Heyford; remember Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith coming to my shop on the 27th of January; they brought some fat melted down; gave them 4d. per pound for it; there were 13½ pounds. John French - Am a butcher; live near Deddington; went before the magistrates; was shown some mutton; two best ends of the neck and part of a breast; compared them; the necks were from different sheep; one was much larger than the other; these are the same skins as I saw before the magistrates; one of the skins had been cut; and part of it left on the part of breast of mutton. Am certain that part of the meat had not died from any disease; it was firm, fat meat; if it had died of a disease called red water, the flesh would have been red; should say such a sheep would produce 10 or 12lbs. weight of fat; the other, which they had from Mr. Buswell, would not produce 6lbs. Cross-examined - There is a disease called the white water; if the sheep had died from that, it would have the same effect as the red. Richard Buswell - Am bailiff to Mr. Rose, of Ledwell Farm; on the 26th of January lost a sheep; gave part of it to my shepherd, and part to the gipsies; it was very poor; on the Thursday afterwards saw some mutton before the magistrates; it could not have been part of the sheep I gave to the gipsies. By Mr. Williams - Have seen the prisoners before; gave them leave to sleep in a hovel	The Banbury Guardian , 11 March 1847, 2

				on the Sunday night, and again on the Monday night. The legs and shoulders were given to the shepherd for his dog; the rest were given to the prisoners; they helped the shepherd skin the sheep; saw them go away; saw nothing with them but the mutton I gave them; the skin was sold to a butcher. George Morgan recalled - Had the prisoners in his custody, and was present when there was a conversation respecting a knife; had Robert Bagley in custody at his father's house, he got away by saying that the gentleman had discharged him. In consequence of what he said, left the prisoner in the room and went to inquire of his father; when he came back, the prisoner was gone; went out and in about two miles found the prisoner in a ditch; he would not come out, but said, "If witness touched him, he would knock him down with his crutch." Mr. Samuel Field, magistrates' clerk, said - That he was present when the prisoners were brought before the magistrates; they were asked if they wished to say anything, and were cautioned that what they said would be taken down, and produced in evidence against them. They then severally made a statement, in which they said that they had received the mutton from Mr. Buswell, the bailiff to Mr. Rose. It was taken down and signed by each of the prisoners. This was the case for the prosecution. Mr. Williams, for the defence, was most eloquent. He contended that the case was not clearly made out against the prisoners, and it was next to impossible that they could be the parties who committed the crime which they were charged with; if they were, it must have been done by ten in the morning, when the whole of the people of the village were about, as they were sleeping in the hovel seven miles away, when the sheep was alleged to have been lost. The learned Judge having summed up, the Jury returned a verdict of Guilty against all the prisoners. - Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith were then sentenced to ten years' transportation each; and the other prisoners to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

1871	21 June	Headington, OXF	charged with assault	Cinderella Smith, a lady who travels with "three sticks a penny," was summoned for assaulting Sarah Smith, at Headington, on the 21st inst. - Complainant said that on that day defendant came to her door and began swearing at and threatening her before she was up, and dared her to come out of her house. While witness was dressing her child soon afterwards, defendant ran in and pulled her down by the hair of her head, which complimentary proceeding was returned by prosecutrix, who "fetched" defendant down on the ground alongside herself. Cinderella then pinched Sarah's hand, and the latter amicable person snatched up the bellows; at sight of which formidable weapon of offence it seemed that defendant "hooked it," or, in other words, took to flight. - In defence Cinderella said that on the day before the fracas occurred, she and her husband went with their cocoa-nuts, &c., to Iffley feast, at which place a quarrel arose between them and Sarah and a man named Buckingham, as to the position in which they pitched their apparatus. She asserted that prosecutrix seized her by the head first, and called - Prudence Smith, who said she lived close to the parties. On the previous Wednesday she, in consequence of hearing a disturbance, entered Sarah Smith's house, where she found prosecutrix striking the defendant with a pair of bellows. - As the Bench held the no doubt correct opinion that it was a case of "six to one and half-a-dozen to the other," they dismissed the case.	The Abingdon and Reading Herald , 1 July 1871, 7

OXFORDSHIRE ASSIZES.

Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith, indicted for having, in January last, killed and stolen two ewe sheep, the property of William Iorns, of Great Barford; and Robert Bagley (the father of the first prisoner), Charles Bagley (another son), and Cinderella Bagley (a daughter), were all charged with receiving a part of the same sheep, well knowing it to have been stolen. These prisoners were a set of tramps or travelling gipsies following no kind of work, but going about the neighbourhood and country selling skewers and other trifling articles, and living about in lanes and places wherever they happened to be at night. The case was one requiring a number of witnesses to bring the theft home to the prisoners. The constable Morgan took a prominent part in bringing the matter to light, and took the prisoners into custody. After the case for the prosecution was closed, Mr. Williams addressed the Jury at considerable length on behalf of the prisoners, and strongly contended that the evidence had not borne out the charge even against the two principals, much more the other three, who were indicted as receivers; after which his Lordship summed up, when the Jury shortly returned a verdict of guilty against all the prisoners. Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith - each to be transported for 10 years. Each of the others to be imprisoned and kept to hard labour six calendar months.

Oxfordshire Lent Assizes.

Sheep Stealing at Great Barford by a Gang of Gipsies.

Benjamin Bagley, aged 25, and Benjamin Smith, aged 23, charged with having on the 25th of January last, at Great Barford, feloniously stolen two ewe sheep, value 50s. each, the property of Mr. William Iorns; and Robert Bagley, aged 55, Charles Bagley, aged 17, and Cinderella Bagley, aged 20, for receiving parts of the same, well knowing them to have been stolen.

Mr. Pigott, in addressing the Jury, said the prisoners were a gang of those wandering people, the gipsies, who for some time past had been encamped in the neighbourhood of the prosecutor's farm. They would hear, by the evidence he should adduce, that on the 25th of January last, the prosecutor missed two ewe sheep from a flock of 32, which were afterwards traced by foot-marks to a clover rick in the same field, where the skin and entrails were found, and from thence to a lane, where parts of the mutton were found in the possession of the prisoners, who were all sitting round a fire. The facts of the case were few, and he should therefore proceed to call the witnesses.

John Timms - Am shepherd to Mr. William Iorns; counted the sheep on the 25th of January, there were 32; counted them again on the following day, Tuesday, found 2 gone; and footsteps of two men and two sheep, and traced them across some turnips to a clover rick in the same field; found the skins and entrails near the rick; Morgan the constable, examined the footsteps; took the skins before the Magistrates, when they were compared.

By Mr. Williams - It was on the Monday when I first counted the sheep; the rick is about 100 yards from the fold.

George Morgan - Am constable of King's Sutton; on the 30th of January went to prosecutor's; went to the fold; examined the footmarks of two men and two sheep; they went in the direction of a clover rick; judged from the marks that the sheep were pushed along by a man's knee. The two marks went parallel to each other. On the Sunday went to a lane; found all the prisoners; they were sitting round a fire; told Charles that I was constable, and should take him into custody; saw blood on Benjamin Bagley's coat; Benjamin Smith said, "I dare say you would like to know how that come [sic] there;" he said, "Mr. Buswell, Mr. Rose's bailiff, gave us a sheep last Tuesday, and that was done bringing it away; I had not said anything about sheep before that; saw some mutton under the gown of Cinderella; it was very fat mutton; there were several parts. I said, "It is nice fat mutton;" they said, "yes, it was, for they had got fat enough out of it to sell for 5s." Took the shoes off Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith; compared them with the footmarks, and found them to correspond; one of the toes of Benjamin Bagley's was askew; some of the nails were gone; have no doubt but that the shoes I now produce, are the same; took the mutton before the Magistrates; it was compared with some skins there by Mr. French, a butcher; it corresponded; there was a small piece of skin left on the mutton; there was a hole in one of the skins, which agreed with the piece on the mutton. (The mutton was introduced.)

By Mr. Williams - There were parts of two necks, parts of a breast, and other parts; it was not all cooked. Ledwell Farm is about 7 miles from Mr. Iorns; seized all the cooking utensils of the prisoners. It rained hard on the Sunday previous to the sheep being lost; did not examine the right shoe with the right footmarks. It was about ten o'clock when he took the prisoners. The nearest building is the farm-house, within 300 yards; there is another farm about half-a-mile off; there is a church; did not see more than two skins compared with the mutton.

Mr. Richard Hall, nephew of prosecutor, compared the footmarks with the shoes, and found them to agree; the sheep are worth 50s. each. Mr. Iorns is too ill to attend.

Mr. W. Hoar - Am a chandler; live at Lower Heyford; remember Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith coming to my shop on the 27th of January; they brought some fat melted down; gave them 4d. per pound for it; there were 13½ pounds.

John French - Am a butcher; live near Deddington; went before the magistrates; was shown some mutton; two best ends of the neck and part of a breast; compared them; the necks were from different sheep; one was much larger than the other; these are the same skins as I saw before the magistrates; one of the skins had been cut; and part of it left on the part of breast of mutton. Am certain that part of the meat had not died from any disease; it was firm, fat meat; if it had died of a disease called red water, the flesh would have been red; should say such a sheep would produce 10 or 12lbs. weight of fat; the other, which they had from Mr. Buswell, would not produce 6lbs.

Cross-examined - There is a disease called the white water; if the sheep had died from that, it would have the same effect as the red.

Richard Buswell - Am bailiff to Mr. Rose, of Ledwell Farm; on the 26th of January lost a sheep; gave part of it to my shepherd, and part to the gipsies; it was very poor; on the Thursday afterwards saw some mutton before the magistrates; it could not have been part of the sheep I gave to the gipsies.

By Mr. Williams - Have seen the prisoners before; gave them leave to sleep in a hovel on the Sunday night, and again on the Monday night. The legs and shoulders were given to the shepherd for his dog; the rest were given to the prisoners; they helped the shepherd skin the sheep; saw them go away; saw nothing with them but the mutton I gave them; the skin was sold to a butcher.

George Morgan recalled - Had the prisoners in his custody, and was present when there was a conversation respecting a knife; had Robert Bagley in custody at his father's house, he got away by saying that the gentleman had discharged him. In consequence of what he said, left the prisoner in the room and went to inquire of his father; when he came back, the prisoner was gone; went out and in about two miles found the prisoner in a ditch; he would not come out, but said, "If witness touched him, he would knock him down with his crutch."

Mr. Samuel Field, magistrates' clerk, said - That he was present when the prisoners were brought before the magistrates; they were asked if they wished to say anything, and were cautioned that what they said would be taken down, and produced in evidence against them. They then severally made a statement, in which they said that they had received the mutton from Mr. Buswell, the bailiff to Mr. Rose. It was taken down and signed by each of the prisoners.

This was the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Williams, for the defence, was most eloquent. He contended that the case was not clearly made out against the prisoners, and it was next to impossible that they could be the parties who committed the crime which they were charged with; if they were, it must have been done by ten in the morning, when the whole of the people of the village were about, as they were sleeping in the hovel seven miles away, when the sheep was alleged to have been lost.

The learned Judge having summed up, the Jury returned a verdict of Guilty against all the prisoners. - Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith were then sentenced to ten years' transportation each; and the other prisoners to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

1847	4 February	Deddington, OXF	in magistrates court	Tuesday last Robert Bagley, Benjamin Bagley, Charles Bagley, Cinderella Bagley, and Benjamin Smith, all belonging to the gipsy tribe, who were remanded on Monday, were again brought up this day, before the Rev. W.C. Risley, charged with stealing two ewe sheep, from Rignall Farm, Great Barford, near Deddington, and after a lengthened investigation were all fully committed to take their trial at the next Assizes. The thanks of the public are due to Mr. George Morgan, constable of King's Sutton, through whose indefatigable exertions the gang were apprehended. The Bagleys are all of one family, and the father of them, Robert Bagley, though a cripple apparently, and who has travelled about this part of the country for many years with iron skewers, actually made his escape, (being allowed, in consequence of his walking with a crutch, rather more latitude;) and, having half an hour's start before his absence was discovered, gave his pursuers some trouble to re-capture him, throwing his crutch aside, and leading them a regular steeple chase from Deddington to Dunstew, near which latter place he was re-taken in a ditch, and again brought to Deddington.	Jackson's Oxford Journal , 6 February 1847, 3
1847	early March	Oxford, OXF	at the Assizes	Benjamin Bagley, aged 25, and Benjamin Smith, aged 23, charged with having on the 25th of January last, at Great Barford, feloniously stolen two ewe sheep, value 50s. each, the property of Mr. William Iorns; and Robert Bagley, aged 55, Charles Bagley, aged 17, and Cinderella Bagley, aged 20, for receiving parts of the same, well knowing them to have been stolen. Mr. Pigott, in addressing the Jury, said the prisoners were a gang of those wandering people, the gipsies, who for some time past had been encamped in the neighbourhood of the prosecutor's farm. They would hear, by the evidence he should adduce, that on the 25th of January last, the prosecutor missed two ewe sheep from a flock of 32, which were afterwards traced by foot-marks to a clover rick in the same field, where the skin and entrails were found, and from thence to a lane, where parts of the mutton were found in the possession of the prisoners, who were all sitting round a fire. The facts of the case were few, and he should therefore proceed to call the witnesses. 			January, there were 32; counted them again on the following day, Tuesday, found 2 gone; and footsteps of two men and two sheep, and traced them across some turnips to a clover rick in the same field; found the skins and entrails near the rick; Morgan the constable, examined the footsteps; took the skins before the Magistrates, when they were compared. By Mr. Williams - It was on the Monday when I first counted the sheep; the rick is about 100 yards from the fold. George Morgan - Am constable of King's Sutton; on the 30th of January went to prosecutor's; went to the fold; examined the footmarks of two men and two sheep; they went in the direction of a clover rick; judged from the marks that the sheep were pushed along by a man's knee. The two marks went parallel to each other. On the Sunday went to a lane; found all the prisoners; they were sitting round a fire; told Charles that I was constable, and should take him into custody; saw blood on Benjamin Bagley's coat; Benjamin Smith said, "I dare say you would like to know how that come [sic] there," he said, "Mr. Buswell, Mr. Rose's bailiff, gave us a sheep last Tuesday, and that was done bringing it away; I had not said anything about sheep before that; saw some mutton under the gown of Cinderella; it was very fat mutton; there were several parts. I said, "It is nice fat mutton;" they said, "yes, it was, for they had got fat enough out of it to sell for 5s." Took the shoes off Benjamin Bagley and Benjamin Smith; compared them with the footmarks, and found them to correspond; one of the toes of Benjamin Bagley's was askew; some of the nails were gone; have no doubt but that the shoes I now produce, are the same; took the mutton before the Magistrates; it was compared with some skins there by Mr. French, a butcher; it corresponded; there was a small piece of skin left on the mutton; there was a hole in one of the skins, which agreed with the piece on the mutton. (The mutton was introduced.) By Mr. Williams - There were parts of two necks, parts of a breast, and other parts; it was not all cooked.
