1908	June - December	near Kendal, WST		There are some gipsies camping near Kendal up in Westmoreland with whom I have become very intimately acquainted, as they have been staying there for 6 or 7 months and I have visited them regularly about 3 times a week except during the two months I was here last term. The man's name is Mr Shandres Petulam <sup>gr</sup> gro to gipsies and Mr Andrew Smith to gorgios, and his wife is a daughter of Bohemius Boswell the eldest son of the famous Sylvester.	Camden Town, Vaughan Williams Memorial Library, Lucy Broadwood Collection, LEB/5/ 381A & B, letter from T.W. Thompson, Cambridge, to Lucy Broadwood, 16 January 1909
1908	24 December	near Kendal, WST	visited by Thompson	Shandres was at home, and was mending his fiddle. When this had been successfully accomplished he very kindly consented to play for us, and, once begun, he played on and on, passed from one tune to another, dance-music and Christmas-carols, songs and hymns all coming alike to him. As he remembered some almost forgotten melody a beaming smile lit up his still handsome face, and never was he more pleased than when he played and sang a beautiful and pathetic old folk-song... 1894	8 March	Widnes, LAN	probably in magistrates court	John Price, wanted by the Widnes police for committing criminal assaults on two little girls at Widnes, last Sunday, was captured at Warrington on Wednesday night. Detective-sergeant Monaghan came across Price in Buttermarket-street, Warrington. He accosted him, and the man gave the name of "Williams," working at the forge, Warrington, for the past three weeks. Seeing that the man's dress tallied with the description of the Widnes police, particularly as to wearing a clog on one foot and a shoe on the other, he was taken to the Police Station by the detective. Price afterwards admitted his identity, and was handed over to the Widnes police. On Thursday, at the Widnes Petty Sessions, Price, who is about 35 years, and of no fixed abode, was charged with assaulting two little girls named Violet Lee, aged five years, and Lily Lee, aged three years, daughters of Oliver Lee, hobby-horse owner, at present residing in Widnes. The offences were alleged to have been committed on Sunday the 4th inst. in the neighbourhood of Widnes-road. Prisoner was committed to the Assizes. A large crowd of people had collected outside the Police Station by the time the case was concluded, and owing to their hostility prisoner's removal to Walton was postponed.	The Widnes Examiner , 10 March 1894, 5

1910	October	Brough Hill, WST	met by William Ferguson	Years ago, when sitting with Oliver Lee and his wife, a bird or something dropped on the tent-blanket, and his wife exclaimed that it was the 'Death Bird,' and that we should soon hear that some one had died. Meeting Oliver at Brough Hill in October 1910, I asked what bird it was supposed to be, and he replied that it was the water-hen, but that no one had ever seen it. 1883	2 October - 7 November		in gaol		The Guardian , 14 November 1883, 1711
1883	7 November	Exeter, DEV	at the Assizes	The charge of murder was brought at the Exeter assizes on Wednesday against Abraham Boswell , aged eighteen, a tinker and chair-mender. He was travelling through North Cornwall with Thomas Hugo Down, a knife-grinder, thirty-five, and they had been together about a month. In the afternoon of October 2 they went into a public-house at Cubert, between Padstow and Newquay, and remained there for two hours. Both were gipsies, and according to several witnesses they were quarrelling together, talking in the gipsy language. Boswell was seen to strike the other several times, and afterwards Down was found in a dying state in a ditch, bleeding profusely. About a foot away was lying a hammer covered with blood, quite wet. This was seen in the prisoner's possession on leaving the public-house. The jury, after retiring for ten minutes, accepting the defence of provocation, found the prisoner guilty of manslaughter only, and he was sentenced to twenty years' penal servitude.	The Guardian , 14 November 1883, 1711
