1862	21 June	Waterloo, HAM	murdered	Last evening an inquest was held at the Waterloo Inn, Waterloo, Hants, before Edward Hoskins, Esq., coroner, on the body of the gipsy woman, named Eliza Colt Lee, aged 23, who was murdered by her husband, Edward Lee, a gipsy, on Saturday, as already					The Evening Herald , 25 June 1862, 7

				stated. The coroner, after a brief statement of the case to the jury, accompanied them to view the body of the deceased, which was in the loft behind the house. Witnesses were then examined, but nothing transpired to shake the testimony already given by them, nor was any additional fact stated. The father of deceased, a gipsy, named Cole, of Andover, said that his late daughter and prisoner went to live together in October last. They were married at Milton Church, near Portsmouth, on the 7th of October last, and she would have become a mother in about a month. One of the witnesses stated that a little boy, named Wyatt, was in the van at the time of the murder, but this was denied by the boy in question. The coroner summed up the evidence, from which he could warrant no other conclusion than that the woman had been murdered by her husband, whereupon the jury returned a verdict of "Wilful Murder" against William Lee [sic]. The foreman was bound over to prosecute, and the witnesses to give evidence at the assizes to be holden at Winchester. The coroner then issued his warrant of detainer, which was forwarded to the governor of Winchester Gaol. The gipsies are in an excited state, and have expressed a determination to "Lynch" the murderer if they can secure him.
