1890	10 March	Shenley, HRT	burial of father	aged 45, Colney Heath. N P. For the last two or three weeks some gipsies have been living in their vans at Colney Heath, and one of them named James Draper died last week from inflammation of the lungs. As a relative of the deceased had been interred in Shenley churchyard, it was decided by the friends to bury him there likewise, and the funeral took place on Monday. In spite of the rain which fell heavily, a considerable number of villagers, prompted by curiosity, assembled to witness the event. Inspectors Nutt and Gurling with several police constables were also present. Those, however, who expected to see some striking peculiarity in the proceedings were disappointed, for the funeral was conducted on ordinary lines. The funeral cortège, consisting of a hearse and mourning coach, having arrived at the church gate, and the procession formed, the Rev. H. J. Newcome reading the opening sentences of the Burial Service, led the way into the church, and the service proceeded in the usual manner. Seventeen gipsies of both sexes, and of all ages, followed the coffin ; they were all clad in decent mourning, and behaved with due decorum. One or two seemed deeply affected. The coffin had a few floral wreaths on it, and inside were deposited a walking stick and small mirror. Two of the gipsies carried artificial flowers which they placed on the grave. Mr. Goodchild, of St. Albans, was the undertaker.	Original register + The Hertfordshire Advertiser , 15 March 1890, 7

1895	22 November	Derby, DBY	in magistrates court	Abraham Sherriff and Israel Draper, alias Cornelius Colbourne, travelling gipsies, were charged with taking six rabbits from the land of Philip Hanson, at Radbourne, on the 1st of November. A watch had been set on a snare on this land, and at about eight o'clock on the Friday night in question the prisoners were seen to get over a hedge. As soon as they knew that they had been discovered Sherriff threw a stone at one of the watchers and hit him on the leg. They ran away, but turned round, and Sheriff [sic] threw two more stones. Draper told him to kill the watcher, but the latter laid hold of Draper. Sheriff [sic] then hit him on the head with a stick, knocking him down, and while he lay on the road Draper kicked him violently. They left him there, and he did not see them again until last Sunday. As soon as they saw him they ran away, but were eventually apprehended. - They were each sent to prison for two calendar months' imprisonment with hard labour.	The Derby Mercury , 27 November 1895, 6

1890	10 March	Shenley, HRT	burial of father	aged 45, Colney Heath For the last two or three weeks some gipsies have been living in their vans at Colney Heath, and one of them named James Draper died last week from inflammation of the lungs. As a relative of the deceased had been interred in Shenley churchyard, it was decided by the friends to bury him there likewise, and the funeral took place on Monday. In spite of the rain which fell heavily, a considerable number of villagers, prompted by curiosity, assembled to witness the event. Inspectors Nutt and Gurling with several police constables were also present. Those, however, who expected to see some striking peculiarity in the proceedings were disappointed, for the funeral was conducted on ordinary lines. The funeral cortège, consisting of a hearse and mourning coach, having arrived at the church gate, and the procession formed, the Rev. H. J. Newcome reading the opening sentences of the Burial Service, led the way into the church, and the service proceeded in the usual manner. Seventeen gipsies of both sexes, and of all ages, followed the coffin ; they were all clad in decent mourning, and behaved with due decorum. One or two seemed deeply affected. The coffin had a few floral wreaths on it, and inside were deposited a walking stick and small mirror. Two of the gipsies carried artificial flowers which they placed on the grave. Mr. Goodchild, of St. Albans, was the undertaker.	Original register (SAF) + The Hertfordshire Advertiser , 15 March 1890, 7
