Section   Sect	IOWELL,	Richard
NOMEL Allow			Ambrosden, OXF	baptism of John	Richard, traveller	Original register transcript
Section   Foreign   Foreign   Section   Sect		-	,
Section   Sect	HOWELL,	Alice
Section   Supplies	1614	•	LDN			Original register transcript
SOFTEL   Autonome   Contention ON   SOFTE		22 December	Nonington, KNT		Mathew & Alice COOPER
ROMELL Pulse
Secretary   Secr
The company	1611	14 September	Ambrosden, OXF	baptised	son of Richard, traveller	Original register transcript
Section   Sect	HOWELL,	Philip
ROWELL, John   Service COS	1634	3 December	Deddington, OXF	buried	a traveller	Original register transcript
DOMES   17 Appell   Useful OF   Seaton of Dillon   Villan   8 Teacher   Cognition between   Cognition of Dillon   Villan   8 Teacher   Cognition of Dillon   Cog
NOMELL, Wilson	·
Column   C	1656	21 August	Burford, OXF	buried	wife of Thomas, a stranger	Original register transcript
NOWELL, John   State   Convenience Off   Deptem of Justice   Julius   Julius   provided   Conjunct organization of the part of the part of Offices   State   Conjunct organization   Conjunct organi	HOWELL,	William
FOCK   Coppet   Concention, CHP   Implies of any on the section   Coppet register force	1641	22 May	Kirtlington, OXF	baptism of Dillian	William, a traveller	Original register transcript
1506   F.A.P.   Encourage COS   Deption of John   Justin   Biocolet   Original register forces
NOWELL Solins	·			1
1991   22 May   Midragon, 000   Legisled   Joseph   Jos	1656	6 April	Caversham, OXF	baptism of John	John, a traveller	Original register transcript
HOWELL Store  1989   2 November   Laboland 1999   Destroy   Destro	HOWELL,	Gillian
1566   3 November   Lezolard, SRIK   burlet   a segricing main   Organizar register langua	1641	22 May	Kirtlington, OXF	baptised	daughter of William, a traveller	Original register transcript
1566   3 November   Lezolard, SRIK   burlet   a segricing main   Organizar register langua
HOWEL, Single  100 April 28 March Actin Ac			T	1
1971   25 Merch   Addon Karmer, VIII.   build   wile of William, a knowledge common   Original register transco   1982   3 April   Coversion, ONT   Saudiesed   sen of Judes, a knowledge	1668	3 November	Labgford, BRK	buried	a wayfaring man	Original register transcript
HOWELL, John    See   Care   Control   Control	HOWELL,	Silagh
1658   6 April   Coversions CXF   Impliance   sour of John A Sarah Traveler   Original register transco	1671	28 March	Aston Keynes, WIL	buried	wife of William, a walking woman	Original register transcript
1556   1 April   Coversham, CAF   Inspitent   Special register transco   1728   10 April   Defrey, SEX   Inspitent   Special register frames
HOWEL, Sarah  TYPE   10 April   Bollow, SSX   Septem of Serah   Jean & Serah, Traveler   Original register trasco  HOWEL, Sarah  TYPE   10 April   Dohey, SSX   Septem of Serah   Seaghter of John & Serah, Traveler   Original register trasco  HOWEL, Thomas  TYPE   21 May   Sundon, BDF   Septem of Serah   Thomas & Ann. Invester (godler - DT)   Original register trasco  HOWEL, Sarah  TYPE   21 May   Puborcuph, SSX   Sundon BDF   Septem   Seaghter of Thomas & Ann. Invester (godler - DT)   Original register trasco  HOWELL, Sarah  TYPE   21 May   Sundon, BDF   Septem   Seaghter of Thomas & Ann. Invester (godler - BT)   Original register trasco  HOWELL, Sarah  TYPE   22 May   Sundon, BDF   Septem   Seaghter of Thomas & Ann. Invester (godler - BT)   Original register trasco  HOWELL, Sarah  TYPE   22 May   Sundon, BDF   Septem   Seaghter of Thomas & Ann. Invester (godler - BT)   Original register trasco  HOWELL, Sarah  TYPE   22 May   Sundon BDF   Septem   Seaghter   Seaghter   Original register trasco  HOWELL, Sarah  TYPE   23 May   Sundon BDF   Septem   Seaghter   Seaghter   Original register trasco  HOWELL, William  TYPE   24 May   Sundon BDF   Septem   Seaghter   Seaghter   Original register trasco  HOWELL, Sarah  TYPE   25 May   Sundon BDF   Septem   Seaghter   Seaghter   Original register trasco  HOWELL, Sarah  TYPE   25 May   Seaghter   Seaghter				/\
1728   10 April   Borney, SSX   bagdeer of Seach   John & Sarah, Taweler   Original register transco	1656	6 April	Caversham, OXF	baptised	son of John, a traveller	Original register transcript
HOWELL, Sarah  1728   10 April   Bolney, SSX   baptised   daughter of John & Sarah, Treveer   Criginal register transco HOWELL, Jacob  1749   21 May   Sundon, BDF   baptism of Sarah   Thomas & Ann, traveller [pediar - BT]   Original register transco HOWELL, Sarah  1749   21 May   Sundon, BDF   baptism of Sarah   Thomas & Ann, traveller [pediar - BT]   Original register transco HOWELL, Sarah  1749   21 May   Sundon, BDF   baptised   daughter of Thomas & Ann, traveller [pediar - BT]   Original register transco HOWELL, Sarah  1749   21 May   Sundon, BDF   baptised   daughter of Thomas & Ann, traveller [pediar - BT]   Original register transco HOWELL, Sarah  1749   27 May   Sundon, BDF   baptised   daughter of Thomas & Ann, traveller [pediar - BT]   Original register transco HOWELL, Sarah  1749   27 May   Sundon, BDF   baptised   soon of Peter & Abligati, Pediar   HOWELL, Sarah  1750   7 May   Sundon, BDF   Baptised   soon of Peter & Abligati, Pediar   HOWELL, Sarah  1751   7 May   Sundon, BDF   Baptised   soon of Peter & Abligati, Pediar   HOWELL, Sarah  1751   7 May   Sundon, SSX   Baptised   soon of Peter & Abligati, Pediar   HOWELL, Sarah  1751   7 May   Sundon, SSX   Baptised   soon of Peter & Abligati, Pediar   HOWELL, Sarah  1751   7 May   Sundon, SSX   Baptised   soon of Peter & Abligati, Pediar   HOWELL, William  1752   7 May   Sundon, SSX   Sundon, SSX   Baptised   soon of Peter & Abligati, Pediar   HOWELL, Sarah  1754   1856   1856   Supporteror   Oxford, OXF   sundon	IOWEL, S	Sarah
1726   10 April   Bolney, SSX   baptised   daughter of John & Sarain, Traveeer   Original register transc	1726	10 April	Bolney, SSX	baptism of Sarah	John & Sarah, Traveler	Original register transcript
1726   10 April   Bolney, SSX   baptised   daughter of John & Sarain, Traveeer   Original register transc
HOWELL, Sarah  Type   21 May   Sundon, BDF   beptism of Sarah   Thomas & Ann, traveller (pediar - 81)   Original register travel  HOWELL, Sarah  Type   21 May   Pulborough, SSX   buried   a Traveller   Original register travel  HOWELL, Sarah  Type   21 May   Sundon, BDF   baptised   desuphter of Thomas & Ann, traveller goetler - 81)   Original register travel  HOWELL, Sarah  Type   21 May   Sundon, BDF   baptised   desuphter of Thomas & Ann, traveller goetler - 81)   Original register travel  HOWELL, Sarah  Type   27 November   Horsham, SSX   baptised   Son of Peter & Abgall, Pedier   Original register travel  HOWELL, William  C1850   September   Horsham, SSX   baptised   Son of Peter & Abgall, Pedier   Original register travel  HOWELL, William  C1850   September   Horsham, SSX   baptised   Son of Peter & Abgall, Pedier   Original register travel  HOWELL, William  C1850   Ordord, CXF   September   Horsham, SSX   Daptised   Son of Peter & Abgall, Pedier   Original register travel  C1850   Ordord, CXF   Original register tra			Tan
Tree   Park   Sundon, RDF   Deptition of Sarah   Thomas & Arm, Investor (pediar - BT)   Original register franco	1726	10 April	Bolney, SSX	baptised	daughter of John & Sarah, Traveler	Original register transcript
HOWELL, Sarah  Try 2 1 May Putboraugh, SSX buried a Traveler Original register transco  HOWELL, Sarah  Try 2 2 May Sundon BDF baptised daughter of Thomas & Ann. traveller [pediar - BT] Original register transco  HOWELL, Sarah  Try 2 2 May Sundon BDF baptised daughter of Thomas & Ann. traveller [pediar - BT] Original register transco  HOWELL, Sarah  Try 3 2 May Sundon BDF baptised son of Peter & Aldigal, Pedier Original register transco  HOWELL, Sarah  Try 3 2 May Sundon BDF baptised son of Peter & Aldigal, Pedier Original register transco  HOWELL, William  C1825 Supplement of Supplement son of Peter & Aldigal, Pedier Original register transco  HOWELL, William  C1825 Gasptember Oxford, OXF ansatz data St. Giles Fair Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Original register transco  C1825 Gasptember Oxford, OXF in magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Original register transco  C1825 Gasptember Oxford, OXF in magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Aldigal, Pedier Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Oxford, OXF In magistrates and oxford the Oxford, OXF In magistrates court Carter & Oxford, OXF	HOWELL,	Thomas
Traveler   Original register transco	1749	21 May	Sundon, BDF	baptism of Sarah	Thomas & Ann, traveller [pedlar - BT]	Original register transcript
Traveler   Original register transco
HOWELL, Sarah    1814   27 November   Horsham, SSX   baptised   son of Peter & Abgall, Pedier   Original register transco   1824   27 November   Horsham, SSX   baptised   son of Peter & Abgall, Pedier   Original register transco   1824   27 November   Horsham, SSX   baptised   son of Peter & Abgall, Pedier   Original register transco   1824   27 November   Horsham, SSX   baptised   son of Peter & Abgall, Pedier   Original register transco   1825   September   Oxford, OXF   Septembe
1749   21 May   Sundon, BDF   Deptised   daughter of Thomas & Ann. traveller [pediar - BT]   Original register transco	1756	21 May	Pulborough, SSX	buried	a Traveler	Original register transcript
HOWELL, Sarah  1814 27 November Horsham, SSX baptised son of Peter & Abigall, Pedier Original register transco  HOWELL, Sarah  1814 27 November Horsham, SSX baptised son of Peter & Abigall, Pedier Original register transco  HOWELL, William  1881 6 September Oxford, OXF arrested at St. Giles Fair based on the Control of Charles Williams on the Charles Williams on the Charles Williams on the Control of Charles Williams on the Charle	HOWELL,	Sarah
HOWELL, Sarah  1814 27 November Horsham, SSX baptised son of Peter & Abigail, Pedler Original register transcut  1814 27 November Horsham, SSX baptised son of Peter & Abigail, Pedler Original register transcut  1814 27 November Horsham, SSX baptised son of Peter & Abigail, Pedler Original register transcut  1815 Sarah  1816 6 September Oxford, OXF arrested at St. Giles Fair Final Abigail, Pedler Oxford, OXF arrested at St. Giles Fair Final Final St. Giles Fair Final Fin	1749	21 May	Sundon, BDF	baptised	daughter of Thomas & Ann, traveller [pedlar - BT]	Original register transcript
HOWELL, Sarah  1814   27 November   Horsham, SSX   baptised   son of Peter & Abigail, Pedler   Original register transco  HOWELL, Sarah  1814   27 November   Horsham, SSX   baptised   son of Peter & Abigail, Pedler   Original register transco  HOWELL, William  1881   6 September   Oxford, OXF   arrested at St. Giles Fair   The Abingdon and Rea Horald, 17 September    1881   14 September   Oxford, OXF   in magistrates court   Charles Wilkinson, general dealer, no fixed home, and William Howell, hawker, 24, Freal George-street, Upper Pil-street, Liverpool, were charged on remand with frequenting St. Giles Fair for the purpose of committing a felony, at 3.45 p.m. on Monday, the St finst. 7 P. Calipar Holion deposed that he was on duty on palen dolftes at the fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he will be fair. He brought the pirsones before the all the search and the search a	IOMELL	0 1
HOWELL, Sarah    1814   27 November   Horsham, SSX   baptised   son of Peter & Abigail, Pedier   Original register transculation   Peter & Abigail, Pedier   Peter & Abigail,			Tu a sov			I 0 · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
HOWELL, William  C1856   September   Oxford, OXF   arrested at St. Giles Fair    1881   14 September   Oxford, OXF   arrested at St. Giles Fair    1881   14 September   Oxford, OXF   arrested at St. Giles Fair    1881   14 September   Oxford, OXF   arrested at St. Giles Fair    1881   14 September   Oxford, OXF   arrested at St. Giles Fair    1881   15   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 17 September 1881, 6    1881   15   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 17 September 1881, 6    1881   16   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   18   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   18   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   18   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon and Reaferald, 18 September 1881, 6    1881   The Abingdon	1814	27 November	Horsnam, SSX	paptised	son of Peter & Abigaii, Pedier	Original register transcript
Ed856  1881  14 September  Oxford, OXF  In magistrates court  Oxford, OXF  In magistrates  Oxford, OXF  In magistrates  Oxford, OXF  In magistrates  In magistrates  In magistrates  In magistrates  In magistrates  In magistrate	HOWELL,	Sarah
C1856   1881   6 September   Oxford, OXF   arrested at St. Giles Fair   The Abingdon and Rea Herald, 17 September   1881   6 September   Oxford, OXF   In magistrates court   Charles Wilkinson, general dealer, no fixed home, and William Howell, hawker, 24, Great George-street, Upper Pit-street, Liverpool, were charged on remand with frequenting St. Giles Fair for the purpose of committing a felony, at 3.45 p.m. on Monday, the 5th inst P.C. Edgar Holton deposed that he was on duty on plain clothes at the fair. He brought the prisoners to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson to found two half-sovereigns, 12s. in silver, and 11d. in bronze. There was nothing whatever on the entry in the prisoners except a small knife. He afterwards charged them with loitering in the fair for an unlawful purpose, but they then made no answer. When before the Mayor, in the reing the way at once. "Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson called him to the door, and said." Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand south the state of persons having their pockets, and then hand south the state of persons having their pockets, and then hand south the dair for on unusual the state of the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony, He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoners of the and two of the compalants of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoners. Py the Bench: He had two or three compalants of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners for over an hour without doing anything, ellen ought it was every hard to the should be detained eight d	1814	27 November	Horsham, SSX	baptised	son of Peter & Abigail, Pedler	Original register transcript
C1856   1881   6 September   Oxford, OXF   arrested at St. Giles Fair   The Abingdon and Rea Herald, 17 September   1881   6 September   Oxford, OXF   In magistrates court   Charles Wilkinson, general dealer, no fixed home, and William Howell, hawker, 24, Great George-street, Upper Pit-street, Liverpool, were charged on remand with frequenting St. Giles Fair for the purpose of committing a felony, at 3.45 p.m. on Monday, the 5th inst P.C. Edgar Holton deposed that he was on duty on plain clothes at the fair. He brought the prisoners to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson to found two half-sovereigns, 12s. in silver, and 11d. in bronze. There was nothing whatever on the entry in the prisoners except a small knife. He afterwards charged them with loitering in the fair for an unlawful purpose, but they then made no answer. When before the Mayor, in the reing the way at once. "Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson called him to the door, and said." Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand south the state of persons having their pockets, and then hand south the state of persons having their pockets, and then hand south the dair for on unusual the state of the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony, He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoners of the and two of the compalants of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoners. Py the Bench: He had two or three compalants of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners for over an hour without doing anything, ellen ought it was every hard to the should be detained eight d	10147	William
1881 6 September  Oxford, OXF	·	vviiiiam	1	h.;at-		T
1881 14 September Oxford, OXF in magistrates court Oxford, OXF in magistrates out of the purpose of committing a felony, at 3 45 p.m. on Monday, the 5th inst P.C. Edgar Holton deposed that he was on duty on plain clothes at the fair. He brought the prisoners to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he found wo half-sovereigns, 12s. in silver, and 11d. in bronze. There was nothing whatever on the other prisoner except a small knife. He afterwards charged them with loitering in the fair for an unlawful purpose, but they then made no answer. When before the Mayor, in the evening, they said, "If you will let us go, we will pay our railway fare and go straight away at once." Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson called him to the door, and said, "Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He hought it was very har		6 September	Oxford, OXF			The Abingdon and Reading
Great George-street, Upper Pit-street, Liverpool, were charged on remand with frequenting St. Giles' fair for the purpose of committing a felony, at 3.45 p.m. on Monday, the 5th inst P.C. Edgar Holton deposed that he was on duty on plain clothes at the fair. He brought the prisoners to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he found two half-sovereigns, 12s. in silver, and 11d. in bronze. There was nothing whatever on the other prisoner except a small knife. He afterwards charged them with loitering in the fair for an unlawful purpose, but they then made no answer. When before the Mayor, in the evening, they said, "If you will let us go, we will pay our railway fare and go straight away at once." Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson called him to the door, and said, "Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and furnble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: 1 He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: - He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said	4004	14.0	Outsid OVE	in manifestate -	Charles Williams remark declar to fine de	1881, 6
Monday, the 5th inst P.C. Edgar Holton deposed that he was on duty on plain clothes at the fair. He brought the prisoners to the station and searched them. On Wilkinson he found two half-sovereigns, 12s. in silver, and 11d. in bronze. There was nothing whatever on the other prisoner except a small knife. He afterwards charged them with loitering in the fair for an unlawful purpose, but they then made no answer. When before the Mayor, in the evening, they said, "If you will let us go, we will pay our railway fare and go straight away at once." Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson called him to the door, and said, "Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: - He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: - He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hooped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to t	1881	14 September	Oxford, OXF	ın magistrates court	Great George-street, Upper Pit-street, Liverpool, were charged on remand with found two half-sovereigns, 12s, in silver, and 11d, in bronze. There was nothing whatever on the other prisoner except a small knife. He afterwards charged them with loitering in the fair for an unlawful purpose, but they then made no answer. When before the Mayor, in the evening, they said, "If you will let us go, we will pay our railway fare and go straight away at once." Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson called him to the door, and said, "Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any add					Monday, the 5th inst P.C. Edgar Holton deposed that he was on duty on plain clothes	1881, 6
loitering in the fair for an unlawful purpose, but they then made no answer. When before the Mayor, in the evening, they said, "If you will let us go, we will pay our railway fare and go straight away at once." Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson called him to the door, and said, "Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					found two half-sovereigns, 12s. in silver, and 11d. in bronze. There was nothing the Mayor, in the evening, they said, "If you will let us go, we will pay our railway fare and go straight away at once." Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson called him to the door, and said, "Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					loitering in the fair for an unlawful purpose, but they then made no answer. When before called him to the door, and said, "Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willign to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					and go straight away at once." Witness then put them in the cell, and prisoner Wilkinson effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinsson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					called him to the door, and said, "Officer, don't be too hard on us." Witness said "all right," and left them. The evidence taken at the last hearing was read, and was to the his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					effect that the constable saw Howell go amongst several ladies, and fumble among their pockets, and then hand something to Wilkinson By Howell: Witness saw Howell put Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					his hand under his coat, the usual way it was done, and he observed the prisoners go into several knots of persons. He took hold of each of the prisoners by the collar By other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					Wilkinson: He followed the prisoners for over an hour. He did not see them go into the show to see the performing pony. He did not see him buy apples, and pass one to the
they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it was reasonable that they would have walked about the fair for an hour without doing anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					other prisoner By the Bench: He had two or three complaints of persons having their pockets picked, and he watched the prisoners, before he heard from some one else that anything. He thought it was very hard that he should be detained eight days and nine nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					they were endeavouring to pick pockets Howell, in addressing the Bench, asked if it said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he					nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go nan no noting the prisoners were at the foir for the purpose of committing a follow, but					nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not as nothing was proved against them they would be let off leniently with seven days'					nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he
1881 14 - 21 Oxford, OXF in gaol The Abingdon and Rea					nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he had no doubt the prisoners were at the fair for the purpose of committing a felony, but as nothing was proved against them they would be let off leniently with seven days'
September Herald, 17 September 1881, 6	1881		Oxford, OXF	in gaol	nights for doing nothing at all. He hoped the magistrates would overlook it The Mayor said he had given a wrong address Howell, continuing, said they were willing to go away, and the police could see them out of the town by the first train Wilkinson said it was very hard to call men of business as to their character, because they would not come without being paid Superintendent Head said that one of the prisoners gave a false address, and the other one refused to give any address at all The Mayor said he had no doubt the prisoners were at the fair for the purpose of committing a felony, but	The Abingdon and Reading